By Whistlers Mom This is the second book I've read by this author, a native of the Philippines who lives in Toronto. Judging by her fearless, take-no-prisoners approach to life, I think her mother must have been frightened by a picture of General MacArthur while she was pregnant. Jenell LOVES to travel. In order to afford short trips in Canada and the U.S every month, she does without drinking, partying, fast food, and any other unnecessary spending. Then she decided to spend a WHOLE WEEK visiting Europe. She hit Athens, Rome, Barcelona, Paris, Brussels, Amsterdam, and London. While just reading the itinerary is exhausting to me, she managed to visit several attractions in each city and came home with some good memories and some great stories. For sheer guts and audacity, she's hard to match and reading about her travels leaves me shaking my head and laughing at the same time. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Fast Paced Traveling By BarLee I enjoyed the author's infectious sense of excitement and efforts to show others how to budget on trips aboard. The author travels to seven cities, in seven countries, in seven days; opting for only doing one or two things of interest at each stop. While this is not my preferred travel style, the author provides a good sense of how she planned such a fast paced and travel heavy trip. She includes a breakdown of her budget and expenses that is interesting. I recommend this for anyone that wants/needs to travel to several places rather quickly and get the most out of it. 1 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Helpful travel hints. By Paula M. Kates Veeder This young woman certainly did her research and was well prepared in every way. She followed through on her plan and had few surprises. You may be able to take advantage of many of her specific recommendations.

How I made it possible to make the most of my time by traveling solo to 7 cities in 7 countries in Europe in 7 days - on a budget!
