2 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Two Stars By Michael O. Basically an LA Restaurant ad brochure that you can probably get for free from any tourist-type establishment. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. A Complete Ripoff By Curmudgeon I couldn't agree more! If you read the fine print, you'll see one place where this thing is called a "basic map." Everywhere else, it's referred to as a "guide" That's because it has so little detail that calling it a map (with no qualifier) would be massive hyperbole. Not worth the postage it took to send it, let alone $7.

The "Raymond Chandler Map of Los Angeles," The Raymond Chandler Map of Los Angeles (ISBN 081129604), by Kim Cooper, while not great, is far superior to this thing, and the price is the same. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. It's a MapBy Kate KahnThought it would be a book not a map.

Informed by on-the-ground research, Herb Lester's handy, folded guides uncover what makes a city special - its most distinctive shops, restaurants, cafes, bars, museums and galleries, whether unmissable old favourites, exciting new arrivals or overlooked treasures. Each entry comes with its own brief description, and a basic map helps the reader get their bearings and make plans. The ideal companion for visitors to Los Angeles who are looking for the city glimpsed in old movies and TV shows. The 39 entries encompass both the glamour and the demi-monde: here are glittering 1920s movie palaces, down-and-dirty bars, ballrooms, diners and pizza joints. These are places where movie stars, gangsters, writers and barflies have wined, dined, romanced, brawled and now lie at permanent rest. Printed on a single sheet of 100% recycled paper, these light, portable guides are an ideal travelling companion.

About the AuthorHerb Lester Associates publish guides for tourists and locals: witty, pretty, curious and opinionated. We research, write, print and distribute maps and guides to the world's great cities. We seek out the well-used and much-loved, and enjoy the extraordinary as well as the everyday. Old bookshops and new coffee shops, park benches and dive bars, hat shops and haberdashers: this is the world according to Herb Lester.
