David E. Russell : The Old Arabia and The New Arabia: An American Engineer in Saudi Arabia 1954 and Again in 1982 before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Old Arabia and The New Arabia: An American Engineer in Saudi Arabia 1954 and Again in 1982:

Various unique facts and oddities observed by the author during his employment in Saudi Arabia by Aramco (Arabian American Oil Company) in 1954 are presented, and these are contrasted to changes observed later in 1982 when he returned as a contractor. All photographs were made by the author. The style of the author is similar to that of James Burke in his TV Series "Connections" in which various topics connect to other seemingly unrelated subjects. Thus, a chapter on The Holy Land and one on the origins of the New Testament are included. Many of the topics discussed in this book-customs, contracting and government in particular-give background and insight into today's situation in the Middle East.
