Not as PromisedBy Tod's House of ChaosBought the book based on the information that a web page was available for up to date information, links, planning information etc., etc., etc. No of this is available. All the website has is a slight discription of the book. NO OTHER INFORMATION.58 of 59 people found the following review helpful. Often incorrectBy N. Tatjana C. VersaggiBecause this guide only comes out occasionally, the hotels often change their information. Even the year the book was published, much of the information was only partially true. One restaunt example we sampled thought that dog-friendly meant tying your dog to a pole in a parking lot on an August afternoon. Another was that the pet-friendly meant anything under 15 pounds, or maybe that you get to stay in the part of the hotel where the gangsters deal drugs (it has happened in the south, no kidding). The information is nicely organized, but is not thoroughly researched, in other words the author likely did not travel to most of the destinations, perhaps using the suspect hearsay method of information gathering. I say this because, in our travels, we have blundered upon far richer dog parks, hotels, and resorts than what were mentioned. If we could blunder upon such things with our giant dogs, imagine what gems a dedicated researcher might uncover!! I think it is worth it to get one of the big guides with more dense info to plow through. You and your pet will end up less frustrated in the end.9 of 9 people found the following review helpful. My Only Travel Book!By evgeneiaMy dog comes with me everywhere--all vacations, road trips etc...This book has been a life-saver, I can't imagine traveling without it! It not only gives a very thorough list of dog friendly accomodations, but it also lists dog friendly activities--though honestly, it's mostly about accomodations.The information is generally accurate, but do call ahead because sometimes facilities change ownership etc...But usually, it's right on.Thorough, with a huge amount of listings in large and small towns. Highly recommend if you travel with your pets!

For pet owners who travel with or without their pets, this annually updated resource is the only inclusive compilation of pet-care options. Owners will find that their travel possibilities expand with lists of hotels and motels that permit pets; American Boarding Kennel Association kennels for day-sitting or for the extended stays when pet travel is impractical; veterinary services nationwide; and fun things to do with your pet. Advice from pet trainer Matthew Margolis of NBC's Today show and animal behaviorist Maureen Hall is included.
