You've got to get this book, full of really good info. Thanks! Lots of do's and don'ts, shortcuts, things I wouldn't have thought of. Good Writer.

The author of the New York Times bestseller The Travel Detective brings you insider travel secrets only pilots and flight attendants know. Pilots are notoriously frugal, and flight attendants are underpaid and on a budget. They may hit one city four to six times a month, but they are there for only twenty-four hours (or even less) each time, so they always know where to go to get the best value for their money. In The Travel Detective Flight Crew Confidential you'll find: great shopping (furniture in Atlanta, silk in Bangkok, leather in So Paolo) great services (medical care in Paris and inexpensive manicures in Tokyo) great food and drink (hidden ethnic restaurants in London, and the bars with the best attitude and cheapest drinks in Key West) secrets to navigating the world's airports during layovers what to do and what never to do, what to seek and what to avoid You get tips in crew members own words good, bad, or ugly that you won't find anywhere else. Opinionated, often controversial, but always helpful, The Travel Detective Flight Crew Confidential is a resource no one who flies can afford to be without.

From Library Journal
NBC's Today show travel editor Greenberg revealed insider secrets on how to save money without sacrificing the quality of service while traveling in his The Travel Detective: How To Get the Best Service and the Best Deal from Airlines, Hotels, Cruise Ships, and Rental Car Agencies. He now writes for the traveler who must spend time in an airport or city during a layover. And who better to offer insider secrets than those who fly for a living and must spend hours in airports and cities during flight changes? This book is actually a compilation of interviews that Greenberg and his assistants conducted with flight crews, both domestic and foreign. It is laden with airport and city tips, lists of favorite restaurants, book stores, and souvenir shops, and suggestions for things to do. Addresses and phone numbers are provided where necessary. Of real use only to those who routinely have long layovers, but you might want to check out a city you know you'll be passing through.
