The pictures alone make you want to try them all.Recently I met a woman from Southern NM who looked at the book and started telling me about the time, 20 plus years ago, she had gone to lots of burger places and was thrilled to find so many of them in the Bucket List! A fun way to work your way around New Mexico--it is a quest well worth taking with Green Chile Cheeseburgers at the end of the trail!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. If you love a good cheeseburgerBy Paul RhettsIf you love a good cheeseburger, and who doesn't, this is the book for you. Filled with the best places to go to get a great green chile cheeseburger. Despite what says about the ranking of this book, it has nothing to do with travel to the country Chile in South America. Even so it is a great book to explore the heavenly delights of a "good" GCCB. Go forth and prosper!

The Complete Green Chile Cheeseburger Bucket List Book is the sixth book in the series of Bucket List books from Rio Grande Books. New Mexico didn't invent the cheeseburger, but it did invent the green chile cheeseburger and is famous for it. When you visit New Mexico you need to eat a green chile cheeseburger. The book documents green chile cheeseburgers all over New Mexico with the epicenters in Albuquerque and Santa Fe. There are even green chile pizza, lamb cheeseburgers, vegetarian, make your own, and with every kind of topping known to man. The Green Chile Cheeseburger Trail, voted the Best Food Trail by USA Today, is included as a must download. A blank bucket list is included to write your favorites. Contact information on each restaurant is also included. Eat up!

WINNER, Best Recreation Book, 2016 New Mexico-Arizona Book Awards ALBUQUERQUE THE MAGAZINE (August 2016): "Like most Albuquerque's, Barbe Awalt is a connoisseur of green chile cheeseburgers. No belly can argue that - but her expertise made choosing the top 100 burgers for the newest book of her "Bucket List" series tougher than anticipated. "It was unbelievable how many restaurants make green chile cheeseburgers," she says. As a long-time Albuquerquean, her experiences here inspired a handful of "Bucket List" books, but Awalt plans on breaking out from New Mexico-centered ideas and branching out nationwide. "I'm already finding the books make great gifts," she says. "And I want the series to be all-inclusive."About the AuthorBarbe Awalt, an author, publisher, and photographer, is passionate about New Mexico, food, and ballooning. She, and her husband, Paul Rhetts, won the Mother Teresa Award from the St. Bernadette's Institute for Sacred Art and the Millie Santillanes Education Award from the New Mexico Hispanic Preservation League, for their work promoting Hispanic New Mexican art. They also received the Joe Leaphorn Award for support of writers from the Hillerman Mystery Writers Conference. They have published some of the best books about New Mexico.
